

Alejandro Orengo is a cinematographer and photographer currently living in Baltimore. He specializes in creating cinematic visuals on a variety of media platforms from advertising campaigns to magazine editorials, artist branding, books, music videos, and short films.

Since 2016, his photo exhibit “Gateways” is part of the collection at Smithsonian Institution, Anacostia Community Museum.